8. CaseStudy:

Coca-Cola India (CCI) in the rural and urban market segments of India and the company's efforts towards effective execution of these strategies, CCI built a distribution network in combination with its bottling partners and contract manufacturers. In urban areas, it distributes products directly from bottling plants to retailers. However, owing to lack of proper infrastructure and difficult access to the remote villages, it modified its distribution chains and adopted the three-tier 'hub and spoke' distribution model, to penetrate into the rural areas and increase its sales. Besides its distribution network, CCI adopted 'Right Execution Daily' (RED) strategy for effective execution of its distribution mainly in urban areas, which boosted the sales of the company. RED ensures the proper display, availability and activation of company's products in the retail stores. With the success of RED in urban markets, the company plans to implement it in rural areas. However, given the potential of the Indian rural markets and the challenges it poses, the question that arises is, how far can RED be effectively implemented and what are the challenges the company might face in reaching out to the rural consumers?

Questions.

- a) Discuss the merits and demerits of Coca-Cola India's distribution strategy.
